

Dr. Paul R. Stevick Veteran Professor Of J. J. C. Dies

Dr. Paul R. Stevick, professor of Philosophy and Sociology at Joplin Junior College since its inception, died of a heart ailment at 7:15 p. m. Sunday evening, April 6. Although Dr. Stevick had been in failing health for a year, his condition was not considered serious until four days before his death.

Dr. Paul R. Stevick, the son of a Methodist minister, was born April 23, 1888 at Strongsville, Ohio. He was graduated from the Southwestern College at Winfield, Kansas in 1913 and later earned his Bachelor of Sacred Theology and his Master of Sacred Theology at Boston University. In 1931 he took his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Iowa.

Before coming to Missouri, Dr. Stevick taught at Oklahoma City University for four years and at Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa for six years.

In 1928 Dr. Stevick came to Joplin to pastor the Chitwood Methodist church. He also served as pastor of the Villa Heights Methodist church and was currently pastoring the Grace Methodist Church here in Joplin. Dr. Stevick has written sacred textbooks and many articles for religious publications. He recently was listed in Who's Who in Methodism and was everywhere recognized as an outstanding authority on the Bible and its interpretations.

After coming to Missouri, Dr. Stevick taught for four years at the Ozark Wesleyan College in Carthage, subsequently coming to the Joplin Junior College where he had served the last fourteen years.

Contributed to Civic Life

Dr. Stevick was known as a very active civic worker. He devoted much of his time to working with youth groups and to promoting youth activities. He was intensely interested in all forms of wildlife and served as teacher of bird study for the Boy Scouts. He was sponsor of the J. J. C. luncheon club, which is a Y. M. C. A. group. One of the highlights for this group each year was a luncheon which Dr. Stevick himself prepared. Other organizations in which Dr. Stevick labored include the Society of Sacred Song Writers, the American War Dads, and the Joplin Ministerial Alliance.

Dr. Stevick is survived by the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Redmond Stevick, two sons, Wilson, a student at Columbia University in New York City, and Robert, who is serving with the army in Korea. Surviving also are a brother, Dr. W. L. Stevick of Nowata, Oklahoma, and three nieces.

Funeral services were held in the First Methodist Church, April 9; internment was in Ozark Memorial Cemetery.

April 4 Marks End Of Adult Night Classes

A very interesting portion of the teaching activity of the Joplin Junior College finished classroom work April 4. These are the classes for adults which met here in the college building from 7:30-9:30 on various nights during the week.

The classes, taught each semester, offer an opportunity for an adult to pick up some subjects he may need now, or to refresh himself. According to Mr. Stratton of the D. E. department, any subject within the range of J. J. C. facilities will be presented each semester provided a sufficient number of people request it. This service is provided by the Joplin Board of Education.

One of the most interesting features of this program is the class in Americanization Education which is conducted strictly for the benefit of D. P.'s who live in this area. Fifteen students are in this class. These students came from Latvia, Poland, Romania, and other Central European countries. The tuition for this class is free and the class is open to D. P.'s only. The subjects taught are grammar, civics, and American history. This class, however, has an indefinite closing date.

Approximately forty per cent of the students enrolled in night classes each semester are sent by local employers and by the Employment Services.

Students who satisfactorily complete each study are given a complimentary certificate for sixteen hours in recognition of their work done.

Tuition is low for anyone who desires to attend these classes. The cost ranges from nothing to a maximum of about seven dollars for each semester.

Y. W. C. A. Presents 'Shadow of the Cross' For Easter Assembly

"The Shadow of the Cross" was presented Thursday, April 10, by members of the Y. W. C. A. in the college auditorium. Events of Holy Week were portrayed in shadow tableau with a background of choral music.

The mixed chorus was under the direction of Mr. Oliver Sovereign. Barbara Brewer and Hal Barlow played organ accompaniment and solos. Miss Martha McCormick and Robert Harris, '49 graduate of J. J. C., played a piano and organ arrangement of the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Narrators for the service were Martha Medcalf and Virginia Newby.

Helen Latta, president of the Y. W. C. A. and several members, including Phyllis Norton, Velda Woods, Catherine Jones, Martha Medcalf, Donna Ackerman, Bonnie Funk, Jo Ann Steele, Marilyn Allen, and the faculty advisors, Miss Vera Steininger, Miss Edna Drummond, and Miss Martha McCormick, planned and directed the tableau.

The program was well received by an appreciative audience.

Commerce and English Teachers Spend April 5 Attending Meetings

Three Joplin Junior College instructors from the Commerce Department attended the Business Education workshop held in Columbia, Missouri, on April 5.

Miss Vera Steininger was in charge of the typing workshop. She also went to the shorthand session. Miss Dorothy Stone attended the secretarial practice and bookkeeping meetings. Mr. James R. Stratton went to the distributive education session.

On the same day Miss Lela Smith, Miss Ada Coffee, Miss Cleotis Headlee, and Mr. Robert Heater were in Pittsburg, Kansas, for a meeting of the Interstate Affiliate of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Their program consisted of three sessions. First was a symposium "On Teaching the Survey Course." It was followed by a panel discussion of "What English Teachers Don't Know about the Teaching of Drama." Mr. Heater was a member of the panel. Using the subject, "Poetry: Muffled Lyre or Sounding Drum," Dr. Merrel Clubb of the University of Kansas delivered the luncheon address. Miss Headlee, who has been the 1951-52 president of the group, presided at the sessions.

Annual Student-Alumni Banquet To Highlight Spring Activities

Edward Farmer Slated For Principal Speaker

Edward Farmer, Jr., attorney for the State Farm Mutual Insurance Company and member of the 1940 graduating class of J. J. C., will be the principal speaker at the Alumni-Student Banquet to be held at 7:00 Friday evening, May 2, at the Woman's Club, A and Jackson in Joplin. He will be introduced by Jack Parker, '47, who is President of the Alumni Association and who will act as Master of Ceremonies for the program.

While attending J. J. C., Ed was a member of the debating fraternity and the dramatics club; in 1940, he was President of the Sphinx and also President of the Student Council. He attended Arkansas University until 1942 when he entered the army where he served three and one-half years and attained the rank of sergeant. While in the service, he also attended Washington University where he studied German.

After the war, Ed served the U. N. R. R. A. in Germany for a year. When his tour of duty was completed, he entered Wayne University in Detroit from which he was graduated in 1949. He was admitted to the bar and licensed to practice law in both Missouri and Michigan.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Farmer, live at 318 North Jackson in Joplin.

To Have Pioneer Theme

The banquet, which will carry out a "pioneer theme" will honor J. J. C.'s first graduating class of '39 which had twenty-three members. The Student Senate is in charge of the decorating with Billie Blankenship as chairman of the decoration committee.

The 1951-52 officers of the Alumni Association are Jack Parker, president; Buford Zumwalt, vice-president; and Kathleen Crane, secretary-treasurer. In Miss Crane's absence Miss Margaret Pendleton, Secretary to the Dean, is acting secretary of the association. Members of the Executive Board are Alice Houston, Leon Kassab, and Franklin Edwards. Miss Dorothy Stone, of the college faculty is the sponsor of alumni activities.

All graduates, former students, former members of the faculty, and students are invited and urged to attend. All students who graduate automatically become members of the association. Present students may obtain tickets from Mr. James Willey of the chemistry department for $1.50.

'The Family' Class

Hears Charles Colson, Jr.

Mr. Charles Colson, Jr., of the Christian Benevolence Association of St. Louis was a guest speaker to the class in "The Family" here at J. J. C. April 2, 1952. Mr. Colson was formerly superintendent of the Children's Home in St. Louis and now devotes his summers to supervisory work in children's homes throughout the nation.

He discussed the reasons children are in "institutional" homes and the way those in charge are now trying to develop a genuine home-like life for children under their care. Mr. Colson stressed the effort now being made to get away from the "institutional type" where there are comparatively large numbers to the "cottage type" where there is a comparatively smaller number and each child may receive close personal attention.

Curtain To Rise On 'Our Town' May 1

No matter how early or late one arrives at one of J. J. C.'s three performances of "Our Town" which will open May 1 in the College Auditorium, the curtain will already be up. What's more, the stage will be completely bare.

At the appointed "curtain hour," the narrator, billed as the Stage Manager, saunters out on the stage to arrange the few props used, mostly chairs and tables and to indicate their function in the set. These props are rearranged throughout the evening to represent everything from a kitchen to a cemetery.

Wherever "Our Town" has been performed most playgoers have welcomed the opportunity to be their own scenic designer. The co-operative imagination of the audience is stimulated by the absence of scenery, and there is a feeling that the illusion in the play is heightened when the audience can give free play to its imagination.

"Our Town," which is set in the little hamlet of Grover's Corners, New Hampshire, at the turn of the century, is the story of the typical figures in a country village, from the newspaper editor and the doctor to the choirmaster and the town gossip. The play reaches into the past of America to evoke movingly a way of life which is lost in our present turmoil.

Eta Chi Delegates Go to Phi Theta Kappa Convention

Four members of Eta Chi chapter of Phi Theta Kappa left Joplin Wednesday morning, April 2, for Gulfport, Mississippi, to attend the National Convention which convened there April 3, 4, and 5.

Going along for the trip were John Mihalaros, who was the chapter's official delegate, Griff Humphrey, Richard Kugler, and Jerry Houchen. The latter three served as unofficial delegates.

from homeless children he had known made his lecture particularly interesting.

Dr. Paul R. Stevick

He Spent Himself in Behalf of Others

Every student and every teacher of Joplin Junior College has recently been shocked and saddened by the passing in death of one of the best equipped and most highly respected teachers ever to come this way. Dr. Stevick's entire life was a most inspiring testimony that it's not what we gain, but what we give that measures the worth of the life we live. He knew the responsibility of teaching. To him it was more than a profession. Yes, it was even more than a calling—it was a ministry.

Dr. Paul R. Stevick lived a physical life span of 63 years, but somehow he had crowded more living into those years than most of us experience in a considerably longer life. His life bore the characteristics of self-sacrifice and brotherly love of another Paul who long ago in a letter to Corinthian Christians said, "And I will very gladly spend and be spent for you." Perhaps it may be considered a commentary on Dr. Stevick's life to say as many others are saying, "He was a good man." But he went farther than that. He was a good man who invested himself in the supremely worthy task of making others good. Never was he too busy to help or in some way direct the faltering ways of others.

Dr. Stevick believed in God and in His people. He sat, as it were, at the feet of Jesus and knew that the day of one's death is better than the day of one's birth. (Ecc.7:1).

'Teacher by Trade--Farmer at Heart'

These words are quoted from a remark made by Dr. Stevick to a student as he showed a picture of himself working in his garden. Perhaps he felt teaching more needful for humanity's sake but felt closer to God during the few moments he could get close to nature.

Included in this quotation is just a hint of Dr. Stevick's conviction that a balanced human life requires work—much work wisely interspersed with recreative moments. And those who knew him sensed these things.

Where, among all our acquaintances, can we find one more worthy to use as a pattern for our own lives?

LILAC (1914)

By Paul R. Stevick

When Aurora drew the curtain
 Ere she ushered in the dawn,
 And the glow of heavenly purple
 Shown through curtain partly drawn,
 Then thy myriad eyes beholding
 This, the hue of robes divine,
 Loved it, gazed on it with longing,
 Till they made its color thine.

And when Zephyr from Olympus,
 From the banquet board of Jove,
 Garments scented still with nectar

Through the fields began to rove,
 Then thy drapery brushing 'gain
 him
 As he loitered in the way
 Caught the richness of his perfume—
 Sweetest odor in the May.

With thy robes of tint celestial
 And thy redolence divine,
 Thee I worship, Lovely Lilac!
 I would make thy beauty mine!

The Most Unforgettable Alumnus I've Ever Met

During the course of the year, many of J. J. C.'s alumni come back to ye old nest from whence they got their push into life. (At least most of them think so.) For some unknown reason, it is my fortune to talk to them, find out what happened between then and now and how come!

Such was my duty one day in March! I was to talk to an alumnus of '48-'49 who is a corporal in the U.S.A.F. (United States Air Force.) This, thought I, is bad! I didn't at the time know a thing about the U.S.A.F. And this particular "alum", as rumor had it, was home for a ten-day leave from Laborador! Goose Bay, Laborador, in fact!

So said the front of his sweat shirt, as I was introduced to Corporal Bradford Spicer. Not knowing whether to stand at attention, and salute, as they do in the movies, or just say, "Hello," I took the latter of the two! I met an unforgettable alumnus. It seemed that this was one guy who liked all the questions I asked and answered them with a smile as he remembered his days at J. J. C.

"Brad", as his friends call him, was president of the College Players in '48, a member of the cheering squad, an officer of the summer student council and parliamentarian of the winter council. It seemed that Mr. Gockel's class was his favorite.

Says "Brad", "I enjoyed my stay at J. J. C." And as he left, he gave this word of advice to all interested, "Keep your grades up and, above all, stay in school!"

"Brad" left J. J. C. in the middle of his sophomore year to go to M. U. but he volunteered for the Air Force in December of 1950. Along with several others stationed at Goose Bay, Brad is taking a correspondence course in Cost Accounting and Mathematics of Finance. After his "two years and ten months" are up, Brad hopes to go on to college and study to be a certified public accountant.

Though stationed in Laborador, where there is snow, nothing but snow, and the temperature gets as low as 32 degrees below zero, Brad still insists upon looking for the good points, such as the beautiful country near the base and the fact that you can always toboggan and ski.

The fact that Brad has no thoughts of himself but always is thoughtful of others and keeps a permanent smile makes him the most unforgettable alumnus I've ever met.

PHI THETA KAPPA

The boys took along an exhibit furnished by the Joplin Chamber of Commerce. This exhibit displayed Joplin's industries and mineral resources and was set up in a booth provided for each chapter by National Convention Headquarters.

According to the delegates, some of the highlights of the convention were lively business sessions, the campaign and election of national officers for the fraternity, supper on the beach, a boat excursion on the Gulf of Mexico, and a formal dinner-dance. In their opinion, the convention afforded wonderful opportunities for good fellowship, experience in parliamentary procedure, and a vivid taste of Southern hospitality.

Little Sisters Encounter Difficulty In Following Big Sisters' Steps at J. J. C.

The Newbys

It takes all kinds of people to make a world, and, for that matter, a junior college. But it seems to me that one kind we could do without is the kind that includes those people who are forever and a day remembering you because your older sister attended J. J. C. and paved the way for you. Now don't get me wrong. I approve of older sisters. I have one myself who attended J. J. C.! Sometimes I just get a little unhappy when people call me by her name, expect me to do the things "Sis" did, and think I should make grades like hers. I (emphatically) am an individual! So say several "little sisters" of J. J. C.

The Gullettes

Take Mary Lou Gullette, for instance. M. L.'s sister Loretta Gullette, "grad" of '50, is now a senior at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene, Texas. Loretta has been chosen the beauty of the Hardin-Simmons campus and also the outstanding musician of the year. She has had many honors in this latter capacity. But Mary Lou is holding her own at J. J. C.! She sings alto in the choir and in the triple trio, and she was chosen football queen for '51-52. She's doing fine for herself!

The Everhards

Anne Everhard, freshman from Diamond, Missouri, has two older alumnae for sisters, Janice and Patsy Everhard. Janice who graduated in '50, is a senior at Tulsa University where she is majoring in Music Education. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority there. Patsy, now Mrs. Bill Spillman, lives in Kansas City. This "grad" of '46 has a small son, Keith. Anne, who is especially proud of the small nephew, is also active around J. J. C. Besides singing soprano in the choir and triple trio, Anne is a member of the one o'clock dancing class and the Alpha Kappa Mu sorority.

Students' 'Letusberg' Address

One half score and three years ago our fathers brought forth on this plot of ground a new institution, conceived in education and dedicated to the supposition that all students are equally creative. Now we are met in the classrooms of this institution, testing whether that building or any other building, so conceived and so dedicated can long endure the hazards of junior college students. It is altogether fitting and proper that we do this.

(The faculty will little note nor long remember what we say here but it can never forget what we did here.) But in a larger sense, we cannot abdicate, we cannot concentrate, we cannot sell this ground. The brave alumni who struggled here have consummated it far above our poor power to add or subtract. It is for us the present student body to be dedicated to the unfinished work—homework—from which the alumni have thus far so nobly advanced, that we resolve that these teachers shall not have tried in vain—that this institution under constant surveillance, shall have more freedom and that student government, of the Students, by the Students and for the Students shall not perish from the earth.

Virginia Newby, five-foot-two blonde who gets around exceptionally fast at J. J. C., is another "little sister." Evelyn, her older "Sis," attended J. J. C. in '48 and is now Mrs. Richard Aikin. A small baby enriches the life of this alumna who took part in many religious affairs during her stay at the College. Evelyn now lives in South Bend, Indiana. Virginia is secretary of the Joplin Christian Youth organization and recently won a Parshad scholarship in connection with the position. Aside from these affairs, Virginia takes an active part in the happenings of J. J. C. She is a member of the Y. W. C. A. and helped to put on the annual Easter assembly. She was in the first play of the school year.

The Hancocks

Ruby Hancock is still another "little sister." In fact, she has two older sisters who came to J. J. C. Dorothea and Marian. Dorothea, '48 graduate, is now Mrs. Jack Tipping. She lives in Wichita where her husband is business manager at Boeing Aircraft. Dorothea is a secretary at the plant. Marian, now Mrs. Jeff Paugh, lives in El Paso, Texas. Her husband is in the Armed Forces. Ruby is taking a business course in J. J. C. and is the highest ranking student in the beginning shorthand class. Active in many affairs at J. J. C. Ruby is also a student senator and a member of Beta Beta Beta sorority.

The Blankenships

Billie Blankenship is another on the list of girls famous for their older sisters who attended J. J. C. Shirley, now Mrs. Robert E. Miller, graduated in '48. She worked as a secretary at Long Bell Lumber Company in Joplin for some time, but now lives in Tulsa. "Rickey," the Millers' pride and joy, is five months old. Shirley was active in the Y. W. C. A. and the Alpha Kappa Mu sorority at J. J. C. Billie, who argues with Anne Everhard about who has the nicest nephew, serves as editor of The Chart and as a member of the student Senate. She also sings alto in the choir.

The Wilburs

Pat Wilbur, perhaps the "little sister" most often called her sister's name, takes it all in her stride. "Everyone calls me 'Mona' but it doesn't bother me," says Pat. Mona, now Mrs. Raymond McCombs, lives at Webb City and works at the Wallace Wilson Insurance Company. Her husband works at the Du Pont plant. Mona attended J. J. C. in '49. Pat, a recently selected Crossroads Queen attendant, is also active in J. J. C. She is taking a pre-business course and confesses that sometimes older sisters can be helpful in choosing a curriculum.

Now you have the list of those girls who have "older sisters." If you are one of those people who insist on living in the past, may I, in behalf of these "little sisters," beseech you to be careful about such things. Such a mistake in names has never led to blows as yet but remember things can only go so far! They may be "little sisters" but, believe me, this is a big thing!

Hail to the Lions Of Yesteryear

With the coming of spring, so comes the green grass, flowers, birds, and, above all, as far as Junior College is concerned, the Joplin Junior College Alumni Banquet.

At this point, a pause is made to glance back through the years of J. J. C. and to check up on a few former athletes in honor of many gridders and basketballers who once formed the personnel of the Joplin Junior College Lions.

From the 1951 basketballers, Gerald Carlin now is employed by the Long Bell Lumber Company of Joplin. Another from the same squad is Leslie Allen, now a corporal in the United States Marines. Leslie, also a gridsman, is stationed in San Diego, California taking a radio repair course.

Bob Adams, co-captain of the '48 cagers, is working for the Wichita Power and Light Company, and supporting, not only his wife, the former Miss Joan Bellman of Joplin, but twin daughters.

Floyd Belk, a gridder and golfer from the same year, and Harold Thompson are teaching in the Joplin Public School system. Belk is in the social science department of Senior High while Thompson is a coach at South Junior. Incidentally, South was defeated only three times this season out of more than twenty starts in basketball.

Of the '46ers Bill McAllister is a dentist in the Air Force in Washington, D. C. First Lieutenant McAllister received his degree from Washington University. James Moulton is a salesman for the Heaven Company in Kansas City. He married the former Miss Jane Wiles, '49.

Jack Parker is attending mortuary school in St. Louis. Jack will join the Steve Parker Mortuary staff June 15.

Bud Passley and Rex Fraley are continuing their sports career coaching. Bud is on the coaching staff at Webb City and teaches science. The squad of which Passley is assistant coach won the Big Eight Conference Basketball Championship this season, while the "B" team, of which he is coach, were co-champions of the same conference. Fraley is a coach at Study Junior High in Springfield, Mo.

Bob Myers is doing ceramic work in Kansas City. Bob and Mrs. Myers, the former Alice Theurer of Joplin, have one son. Oh, yes, Charles Hight, is in Army boot training at Indiantown Gap, Penn. Prior to entering service, he was employed by Braeckel's, Inc.

Not excluding the 1945 alumni, Bob Patrick is now living in Kansas City, Kansas, where he is an accountant. Bob, after leaving J. J. C., entered service and later attended the University of Missouri

Volleyball Contest To End Tomorrow

The faculty will clash against the Eagles today noon on the Y. M. C. A. court. The Burps and the Wildcats will close the tourney tomorrow.

At the issue deadline only two tilts had been played in the Joplin Junior College intramural volleyball tournament.

In the opening round, the Wildcats dropped the Cardinals, while the Burps bowed to the Eagles. Both victors scored two straight wins in each contest. In addition to the four teams already seeing action, the faculty has entered into the race. This squad will probably furnish the most interest, as Coach Ed Hodges said, "We will undoubtedly win," prior to the tourney opening.

The faculty team is composed of Dean Thomas H. Flood, Orie A. Cheatham, James R. Stratton, Arnold Irwin, Coach Ed Hodges, and Robert Heater. Flood, Stratton, and Hodges work out two days a week on a businessman squad at the "Y." Hodges is said to be much improved from last year.

The roster of other groups reads: Wildcats—Bob Cantrell, Richard Stiles, Bill Byrd, Carroll Fain, Jim Showalter, and Buddy Davis.

Eagles — Richard Johnson Gabe Kassab, Warner Owen, Gale Redd, George Ashford, and Bill Warren.

Cardinals—Jim Morris, Gordon Rusk, Kenneth Shoup, Jim Newman, and Terry Kramer.

for awhile. Don Testerman is coaching in Larned, Kansas. Bill Vaughn will receive his Chemical Engineering Degree in June from the University of Ohio. Following graduation, Bill will be employed by the Monsanto Chemical Company.

Dropping clear back to the first J. J. C. football squad in 1938, Virgil Magruder, is a captain in the United States Army. Virgil, now married and the father of two sons, is stationed in Germany.

PITTSBURG DROPS LIONS IN OPENING MATCH

The J. J. C. linksmen went down in their opening game to Pittsburgh State Teachers College 10 to 5 on the Pittsburgh course.

Captain Jim Showalter and John Bishir were winners for the Lions, totaling 3 and 2 respectively. Showalter traveled the first nine holes in 41 strokes, while his opponent used 45. In the second nine, Showalter overshot 43-41. Bishir also took the first nine 42-47 but lost the second by three strokes.

Griff Humphrey and Gail Redd, remaining Lions, were undershot on both rounds. Humphrey shot a 44-51—95 to his opponents 42-46—88 Redd shot 51-54—100, while his mate shot 47-44—91.

The J. J. C. golfers will meet the Coffeyville four this afternoon on the latter's links, according to Coach Ed Horges.

Another match is scheduled for Friday of this week with Independence Juco. The linksmen will play on the Schifferdecker course beginning at three o'clock. Pittsburgh will be here April 29, while the Lions will travel to Springfield May 2 for the closing match this spring.

Future Dims For Track Squad As Three Quit

Although the J. J. C. track squad still exists, its future looks dim as the team still remains unscheduled.

The original eight—eight man team has been narrowed to five with the quitting of Jerry Houchen, Lee Foster, and Gene Sprinkle.

Specialized practice has begun for the remaining men along with the regular daily exercise workout at Junge's Stadium every afternoon.

Gary Testerman, J. J. C. full-back last fall, has been throwing the discus, while the shot is still an open position. Bob Cantrell, Carroll Fain, and Ralph Green are jumping. Cantrell is trying the high jump. Fain and Green are broad jumping. The latter has also been doing some low hurdling.

J. J. C. Completes 'Dollars for Sense' Shows In High Schools of Surrounding Communities

GRAND FINAL TO BE APRIL 26
IN JUNIOR COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

"Dollars for Sense," the J. J. C. quiz show, has finished its scholarship awarding spree. Now only the grand final remains, this show to be held sometime the latter part of this week. The last four schools visited were Carl Junction, Carterville, Granby, and Anderson.

Students who took part in the Carl Junction show were Dolly Benintende, Billy Reece, Sylvia Sutton, and Loydine Cook, winner. Shirley Southard, J. J. C. freshman, was scorekeeper with Mrs. Cleo Harris of the C. J. H. S. faculty assisting.

At Carterville, the winner was Donna Rand, with Shirley Hornback, Gerald Jeffries, and Jim Kepple also participating. Virginia Newby of J. J. C. and Mrs. Dorothy Irwin were scorekeepers.

The eleventh show was at Gran-

by. Contestants were Rita Fullerton, winner, Joan Wood, Rexine Prier, and Dixie McDaniel. J. J. C.'s Silvia Bruff and Richard Fink of Granby faculty kept the score.

Unfortunately, the returns from Anderson were not available in time for this issue. They, along with the picture, will be included in the next issue. All winners received one-year scholarships to J. J. C.

These winners will participate along with the other eight winners in the grand final which will be held in the J. J. C. auditorium. The winner of the grand final will receive the jackpot of prizes including a two-year scholarship to J. J. C., a complete outfit of clothing from Christman's of Joplin, and $50 cash. Second, third, and fourth place winners will be given $25, $15, and $10 respectively.
